CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress,
Seventh Ohio District

The House and Senate have been holding formal sessions during the ten days. No legislative business has actually been transacted by either body, although several important House and Senate Committees have been holding daily sessions. The Congress has been in continuous session since the autumn of 1939, and many members have taken advantage of the Easter lull in legislative activities to return to their districts, and to contact the home folks.

The House Military Affairs Committee is expected to begin hearings next week on a bill unanimously approved by the Senate a few days ago which will give enlisted men in the Army and Navy $42.00 a month basic pay. At the present time enlisted men in the U. S. Army receive $21.00 per month for the first four months of service, at the end of which time their basic pay is increased to $30.00 per month. Present pay schedules in both the Army and Navy have been in effect since 1922. Under the provisions of the bill, as passed by the Senate, all non-commissioned and minor commissioned officers will also receive slight pay increases. It is believed that the measure will be quickly approved by the House with but few, if any, dissenting votes. The Congress and the country realize fully the impossibility of fixing any monetary value upon the services of American fighting men, but the enactment of this legislation will be of some benefit to the men in uniform and will partially demonstrate the Nation's appreciation of their services.

All sorts of statements, many of them conflicting, have been given to the public during recent weeks regarding the shortage of various strategic materials and commodities, many of which have been a part of our everyday life in the past. For instance, one so-called expert told a Congressional Committee a few days ago that there is no real danger of a rubber shortage in this country, and insisted that ten to twenty million tons of used rubber is available to meet the needs of the Nation. When one stops to consider that during the last decade the average annual consumption of new crude rubber in the United States was less than five hundred thousand tons—and that our annual rubber consumption in previous decades was much less than during the past ten years—it can readily be seen that twenty million tons of used or scrap rubber could not possibly be available for remanufacture. In fact, it is extremely doubtful if the total amount of rubber consumed in the United States since that product was first discovered would amount to anything like twenty million tons. It is obvious, therefore, that there can not possibly be that amount of used rubber left in this country, even though none had been used, lost or destroyed in past years.

Last year the United States imported more than six hundred thousand tons of rubber. We now have a crude rubber stock pile of between six hundred and seven hundred thousand tons, which must supply the needs of this country and many of its Allies until a new source from which to obtain rubber is developed. It is now believed that it may be possible for the United States to have an annual production of seven hundred thousand tons of synthetic, guayule and wild rubber by the end of 1945. However, until that time, it now appears certain that this country must live of its present supply of used and crude rubber. This means, of course, that present rubber stocks must be used sparingly and can be made available only for the most necessary of war and civilian requirements.

However, the so-called sugar shortage is quite a different matter. The only reason given originally for the alleged sugar shortage, and the mandatory rationing of sugar to American consumers, was the claim that it was necessary to use sugar from which to manufacture alcohol needed for making munitions. Congressional proposals against the use of sugar for the manufacture of alcohol were immediately forthcoming. It was pointed out that alcohol of exactly the same chemical content, test and nature, could be made from surplus grains at a much lower cost. Congressional

Baseball Tournament

April 21, 24 and 28

Only seven high schools in the county will take part in the annual county baseball tournament April 21, 24, and 28, arrangements being made Monday evening when the league athletic committee met at the Bellbrook High School.

First round pairings were made for games April 21. Semifinals may select the site of their games April 24, while the championship finals will be staged on the neutral Cedarville College diamond April 28.

Beaver Creek, winner of the state Class B schoolboy baseball title last year, was matched with Jamestown Silvercreek in the lower bracket, the winner playing Bowersville Jefferson, which drew the only bye. In the upper grouping, Yellow Springs Bryan plays Bellbrook and Cedarville meets Spring Valley.

The athletic committee was re-organized as a result of the resignation of H. D. Furst, retiring Cedarville school superintendent, who has been the committee chairman. C. A. Wright of Bellbrook, was elected chairman and Vaughn P. Lewis, Bellbrook, was named to replace Mr. Furst on the committee. Other members are Scott T. Bowers, Ross superintendent, and Glen D. Francis and Merlin Eldemiller, coaches at Yellow Springs and Beaver, respectively.

Methodist Women Will Hold Group Meetings

Mrs. Edward F. Andrews, Wilmington, program chairman, announced today. This new type district series is designed to conserve time and gas which a single meeting for the entire area would require, she said.

The women of 49 churches of Clermont, Hamilton, Warren Counties, designated as group 1, will meet at Williamburg. Miss Elizabeth Hoge, 5343 Hamilton Ave., Cincinnati, missionary to India for 42 years is the speaker.

The women of the 44 churches of Highland and Brown Counties, known as group 2, convene in the Methodist Church at Hillsboro.

Democratic Farmer

Forecasts Big Loss

On Lambs and Wool

The Springfield News-Sun, Monday, carried an interesting interview with Louis McDorman, Xenia, on the lamb and wool situation as it will affect the feeder's pocketbook—not patriotism in the New Deal here of the nation's peril.

According to the interview given Saturday, Mr. McDorman, who is feeding 1,400 head, declared: "Only a sharp and immediate upturn in the lamb market will save feeders from taking a loss of from $1 to $1.50 a head on each lamb in their feedlots."

"Feeders," explained the Selma farmer, laid in their western lambs last September and October at prices ranging between $2 and $2.50 a hundredweight. At an average weight of around 60 pounds a head, these lambs cost between $7.20 and $7.50 each, laid down in the feedlot.

"On 90-cent corn and $15 hay, the feeding cost of these lambs now stands at about $3 a head, making the total cost from $12.20 to $12.80 a head. This figuring makes no allowance for lambs which died during the winter nor for the cost of labor in their care."

"At last week's market prices of $9.75 a hundredweight these lambs, now weighing from 80 to 100 pounds, are worth from $9.75 to $9.75 a head, or from $2.45 to $3.05 less than the feeder's total investment."

"Part of this loss, McDorman explained, is made up by this spring's clip of lamb wool which in the Selma section has averaged five pounds for each lamb. Highest prices offered by wool buyers for lamb wool is 38 cents a pound, or approximately $1.90 a fleece. Shearing cost reduces the proceeds from the wool to $1.75 a head.

"Pointing out that lamb feeders have enjoyed a substantial profit for many years, including those during the depth of the depression, McDorman expressed the belief that depression years are better for lamb feeders than prosperous years. Consumers, he explained, are numbered in the high income group which always has enough money for food requirements no matter how depressed are financial conditions of the nation.

"Lamb feeders," he continued, anticipating the upward trend in employment and wages, made the mistake of thinking that prosperous times would mean a higher consumption of lamb. Accordingly, they paid extremely high prices for the western feeders they put into their feedlots. Throughout the nation the increase in lamb feeding rose five per cent over the preceding 10 years.

"But with their pockets crammed with purchasing power, wage earners spurned the luxury of lamb for their tables and turned their money into more pork and beef. The result is that while hogs rose to around $13.50 a hundred pounds last week, lambs continued around $9.75 a hundred pounds, McDorman explained.

"Some of the other Clark County lamb feeders who face the grim prospect of losing money on their lamb feeding projects are: Folger B. Howell of Mad River township with 700 lambs; John Howell of Mad River township, with 1,400; Delmer Jobe of near Selma, 200; Wendell Wildman of Selma, 200; Lloyd Wildman with 1,000; Malcolm Turner with 700 and Merline McDorman with 480 lambs."

Mr. McDorman is a recognized feeder of livestock and especially lambs and without doubt has the same survey of the feeder situation as have thousands of other farmers. It so happens that Mr. McDorman has been, and we have never heard of his repudiation of the Democratic-New Deal control of farm prices; as a patriotic gesture to the nation, been a candidate on his party ticket for county office in Clark county.

It was Saturday we listened over the radio to an appeal to the wool growers of Ohio to stand patriotically behind the "government wool program with fixed prices which would insure financial gain and highest prices since 1929." The radio commentator, a wool executive in an Ohio organization, was pleading, the New Deal rule of "patriotism" on the part of the farm element. He had little to say about the fourteen points of classification that have been set up by the government to force the feeder to sell his wool in the lowest possible market. The wool market framework is patterned after the tobacco auction sales where bidders pay a high price for one basket of samples and purchase the next ten at the lowest government set price. The news reports carry the story of the "high" prices paid tobacco growers.

It has been a peculiar turn in the affairs of the American farmer when the government pays thousands of

Something Rotten In

Denmark; Predicted

The New York Herald-Tribune as well as other metropolitan newspapers of all political faiths have been carrying editorials questioning the necessity for sugar rationing, at least the public has not been convinced that such is necessary.

With sugar harvest under way in Florida, Cuba and completed in San Domingo, and thousands of tons from the latter country being offered for sale in the sugar markets of this country, but prohibited by order of the New Deal, there is just ground for the public lacking faith in the rationing order.

The Herald-Tribune points out that even different government departments and agencies are in disagreement over the question of how much sugar is available for domestic use. It is pointed out the sugar campaign is but another "flicks off a switch" which proved such a flop last fall along the Atlantic seaboard. With government departments differing on the need of a sugar quota for consumers the Herald-Tribune says it is no wonder the public has little faith in the government order. To the public it is but one of the numerous plans to regiment the people which in the end is causing people to have little faith in the more vital things required to support the war.

Continuing the Herald-Tribune says: "If the purpose is to scare the people, this blundering has been even more inept. All the people ask is that they be told the truth, and nothing but the truth, about the sugar situation, and that they be treated as grown-ups, rather than as children by those officials who have to deal with this problem."

FIRST AID CLASSES OPEN TO COMMUNITY

Anyone in the Cedarville community who is interested in learning First Aid under competent Red Cross instructors is cordially invited to enter the class sponsored by Cedarville College. First class session will be at seven o'clock Tuesday night, April 14, at the Alford Gymnasium. The instructor in charge will be Mr. Harold Richards, Xenia. Full announcement is made in the College news column of today's Herald.

Sewerage Problem

Before Council

Village council in session Monday evening received a letter from H. A. Tyson relative to the open sewerage conduit over part of the former paper mill property that had been in use under agreement with the former owners. He wishes to terminate the agreement and asks council to consider some other means of handling the sewerage. A committee was named to confer with Mr. Tyson.

Several months ago an engineering firm in Cincinnati took up the plan of securing federal funds for part of the cost of a sewerage system but war conditions and materials along with labor made any further step impossible at that time.

Council confirmed the mayor's appointment of John Mills and Marvin Agnor as deputy marshals to serve only when called.

An ordinance was passed governing the operation of an automobile or in possession of one while in an intoxicated condition. By this method all fines will remain with the village. The mayor's report showed fines and licenses collected for the month amount to $111.

HIGHWAY CIVILIAN DEFENSE

The State Highway Department, in all counties in southwestern Ohio, is organized to operate as units on Civilian Defense in each county.

The County Superintendent of State Highways will head each County unit. He will have at his disposal the State Highway Department's labor and equipment, a technical staff of engineers, and a Traffic and Decontamination Crew.

The State Highway units will be assigned to the local defense councils in their local counties and are transferable to other counties for disaster work. They will work in connection with the Public Works Committee of the Local Defense Council.

The units will function in all forms of disaster, floods, sabotage, and air raids. They are receiving their instruction from the State Highway Patrol.

Mayor Has Busy

Session Of Court

A number of cases have come before mayor's court this week on a variety of grounds. A. W. Reed secured an attachment against Fred Steyer, Detroit, Mich., for damage to an automobile.

Charles James filed suit against addition Baker for labor and grocery bill.

Capt. John C. Davis up for traffic violation, failure to stop at Highway in Clifton, brought into court by Highway Patrolman, W. M. Wells.

Robt. Corrigan drew a fine of $5 and costs for reckless driving in the village.

Two charges of reckless driving against Walter Ogle amounting to $10 and costs in each case. He had been out of $50 cash bail and refused to pay the fine out of the bail and was committed to the county jail.

J. C. Churchill, Cincinnati, was taken up for driving while intoxicated. He was given a fine of $50 and costs, surrendered his driving license.

Numbers Writer Is Taken Up Again

Charles Walker, of Xenia, said to be a member of the Arts "Number Racket," with headquarters in the former Frame garage, Columbus, pike, was picked up Monday afternoon by Chief William Marshall, assisted by Arthur Evans. A bundle of "Number Slips" hid in the water heater, were confiscated. Walker pleaded guilty and was given a fine of $40 and costs in Mayor's Court. Two weeks ago Arts and Walker paid fines following arrest by local officers.

Health Depart. To Visit Here April 27

The State Department of Health has requested local Health Department and physicians to participate in a nation-wide diphtheria immunization and smallpox vaccination campaign for all children between the ages of nine months and ten years, including an additional dose of toxoid for those who have been immunized longer than five years.

Because of movements of large groups of people, and overcrowding due to inadequate housing facilities in defense areas, epidemics of the above mentioned diseases are a very real danger. Many children (especially infants and pre-school children) in Greene County have never been immunized or vaccinated.

The Health Department personnel will be in your community at time and place designated below to immunize and vaccinate. Will you cooperate by taking your child to family physician or to place designated below?

Springfield Couple Is Held By Kidnapper

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Frock, Springfield, had an unusual experience last Friday night when an armed negro entered their car when they stopped for a traffic light in that city. Using a dummy gun the negro forced the couple to drive to Clifton. Near the Clark and Greene county line the negro struck Frock over the head with a meat mallet. The injured man was kicked out and the drive was continued into Clifton. Mrs. Frock took a chance and hit the negro on the head with a bottle of milk she had obtained at market. She opened the door and jumped. She gave the alarm from the Mac Harris residence and Clark and Greene county authorities responded but have not succeeded in locating the abductor. Sheriff Walton Ephraim and Deputy Earl C. Conner responded for this county. Frock was picked up and taken to Springfield where his injuries were treated.

HOW CAN PROSPERITY BE A REALITY?

With the announcement that we are to have no more durable goods manufactured after May 31st and all building material to be limited to defense work, the nation faces an extremely critical situation.

During World War No. 1 we had critical times with a few limitations on coal, arms and a lot of things needed for active war work. You will recall flour was limited in order that we could feed our boys "Over There" and the people gladly accepted potato flour as a substitute. In those days you heard nothing about burlesque clothes, gasoline shortage, or even rationing of sugar because the people had faith and the Woodrow Wilson Democrats kept the people honestly informed.

Later Herbert Hoover was chosen to direct feeding the European countries that had been overrun by the Germans. Farmers were asked to raise crops to the limit and were permitted war profits in all markets without limitation or regimentation.

Under the New Deal war control almost every line of business is being sacrificed in some form or another. The restriction of manufacture of durable goods means the closing of many factories. Thousands of retail outlets will be closed. Labor will suffer with business and so will the landlord with empty business rooms. Where is the government to get revenue or income taxes if all business is to be stopped while the war profiteers and labor union leaders are given a free hand at 1000 per cent profits?

WANTS A NEW NAME FOR "OUR WAR"

The public is asked to think up a new name for what we know at present as "World War No. 2." The New Deal head does not like the idea of playing second fiddle to President Woodrow Wilson. Ed Flynn said weeks ago this is "our war" and the Republicans are trying to sabotage it. In keeping in line with New Deal ideals why not baptize the present war "Roosevelt's War"? The Miami, Fla., Herald, says why not call it "War of Ruination"? That suggestion is good. It covers breaking down our present form of government and substituting Communism. It is breaking down public morale. Character is being ruined by conditions around army camps. Business is being ruined on all corners. Our suggestion, and one we think more than half of the nation will approve is: "Roosevelt's War." The Mistress of the White House has been a director. Four sons and a lot of relatives have been given unearned commissions. We cannot be wrong on our suggestion.

THE ARM CHAIR STRATAGISTS

Former Governor Paul McNutt, Democrat, Indiana, now head of the Social Security Administration in Washington, pours hot oil on the patriotism of American citizens when speaking on the "American Forum of the Air," Washington. The subject under discussion was "How Can We Aid the Army"? McNutt spent most of his time exhorting American citizens for their attitude to the "Who's War?" He was extremely critical of all classes and gave the public to understand they know nothing about running a war and any criticism against war policy past or present was unjustified. He termed American citizens as "Arm Chair Strategists" who were trying to run the war.

McNutt blasted away that it was the duty of citizens to do more for the army than was being done and not hold the doors of their homes closed to those in uniform. This naturally aroused the suspicion of every home owner as to just how wide the McNutt door was open, or even the White House doors were open?

McNutt evidently overlooked the part the people were playing in aiding and supporting war activities. He did not even mention the government itself as doing nothing to improve moral conditions around camps. How could he expect anything different than at present with liquor being sold in and around all camps.

Of the five speakers on the air Com. Allerton of the American Legion, took McNutt to task for his statement the people were "Arm Chair Strategists." He personally pointed out to McNutt that was just what he was doing and having no authority.

McNutt is a rabid New Dealer and labor union baiter. He has been an advocate of placing all labor under social security which is the first step for organized farm labor as well as regimenting even the washer-woman.

The American voters will extend a new motto if the Social Security boss ever heads a ticket. It will be "Nuts to you Mr. McNutt."

STATE—New Lum and Abner Comedy

Lum and Abner, (Charles Lum and Norris Goh) play their famous character game in their latest laugh riot, "The Bashful Bachelor," with Zasu Pitts.

A hilariously romantic that goes astray forms the theme of "The Bashful Bachelor," the new Lum and Abner picture which brings those two popular radio favorites back to the screen in what is said to be an unusually hilarious vehicle.

Avoiding the serious aspects of their earlier film, "Dreaming Out Loud," the famous pair stick strictly to comedy in their new vehicle. Lum's romance with Geraldine is the basis of the plot, with Lum, to all to propose, seeking to make himself a hero in Geraldine's eyes.

He compels Abner to assist him in his schemes, one of which has near fatal consequences. Another, however, is successful and Lum triumphantly sends a proposal to the lady by Abner who makes a mistake and gives it to the scheming Wilder Abernathy instead.

The Wilder insists on holding Lum to his promise, and further disaster looms when the two partners appear about to lose their store, which they have wagered on the outcome of a horse race. How the marital mixup and the race turn out, lead to the film's uproarious climax.

HERALD WANT AND SALE ADS PAY

It was a pleasure, while at a Southern Indiana health resort, to meet Bess Johnson on two different occasions recently. He was much pleased with the reception accorded him when he addressed the recent "Father and Son" banquet sponsored by the Masonic Lodge. We also renewed acquaintance with Cincinnati's mayor, James Garfield Stewart, who is a native of Springfield, Mayor Stewart is one of the few mayors in Ohio that has the honor of presiding over a council that has lived within its budget and not hounded Gov. Bricker for division of state funds. When Gov. Bricker quits being Governor in Ohio, and that will be when he moves into the White House, the next Republican nominee for governor will no doubt be Mayor Stewart. He has not only been a leading executive, conservative business man and lawyer, but rated as an outstanding campaign orator. He has always had all classes and creeds behind him in his successful campaigns as member of Cincinnati council, his highest vote making him mayor of the city.

We discover from our Democratic acquaintances that party leaders are growing very suspicious of the outcome of the next presidential election, fearing more the outcome of their state tickets due to what they openly predict as a rebuke to be administered the Roosevelt gang of war bootlegers that are running the war. A Democratic judge from another state openly admitted he looked for another Woodrow Wilson turnover in Congress at the coming election and he thought it might be a good thing for the country to have one branch Republican and the other, the Senate, Democratic. While this might lead to confusion for a time he was certain the Communists in government departments would be run out regardless of what Franklin and Eleanor wanted. If Indiana Democratic farmers are behind Secretary Wickard, they are not in this section of the state, Democratic as it is. If Henry Wallace had any friends or supporters in the group they failed to make their position known. Comment was anything but complimentary. In all discussions Ohio did not fare well on revelations of the enormous profits paid a Cleveland firm on war contracts. Residents of other states took delight in picking-fun at Charles West who sued a manufacturing firm with a war contract for his "cut" in landing the bootleg contract.

The Roosevelt gang never overlooks the opportunity of taking a crack at the members of the American Legion. Recently Mrs. FDR in an address said: "the nation is fighting its second world war because the boys in the last war . . . came back without the actual feeling of obligation to carry on their thinking." The Legion Commander challenges the truth of the statement.

Now the New Dealers are fighting among themselves as to who is and who is not a Hitler follower. Meanwhile Harry Bridges and a lot of Communists, so branded by the Democratic controlled Dies committee, are free because the Mr. and Mrs. of the White House do not care to get their political wires mixed with their campaign promises to the Russianized element that control the New Deal.

We read where a New Dealer, C. Hartley Grattan, one of the so-called Communists on the Wallace Board of Economic Warfare, whatever that means, has resigned all because his feelings have been hurt by a "libelous" statement made by Cong. Voorhis, Calif., Dem. The Congressman charged Grattan as a "Nazi sympathizer." Voorhis also charged Grattan as the author of the "1940 German White Paper" document, which said the blame for the invasion of Poland must be laid on certain American officials. As a student of "Economic Warfare," Wallace is probably the best choice for chairman that could be made. His failure in handling the million dollar family farm publication should make him king among the economists of the New Deal brand.

Milk route men in Marion strike and are asking an advance of 50c a day for four or five hours work daily. They belong to the CIO and strike in accordance with the New Deal labor laws that will no doubt give them the advance and take the extra cost off the milk producer back on the farm. C. W. Lemmertz, manager, says the men have been drawing $180 monthly, or $45 a week. If the increase is granted by the New Deal labor board the farmer can expect a lower base price for his milk under the Wickard administration of the milk control law as a patriotic duty to keep down the cost of living. It will not be long until the driver of a milk delivery truck will want as much as the New Deal pays members of the County AAA committee, for telling farmers how to make money without farming.

Newspaper Appeals to Church For Aid

The most unusual editorial ever given first page position appeared last Saturday in the Washington, D. C. Post, when the public was urged to go to church and the church was asked for aid in correcting present day conditions.

For weeks and months Washington has not only been pictured as a "war mad city" but one of the wickedest cities in the history of the nation. Crime of all kinds thrives apparently without any effort on the part of the administration to place it under control. Ravages on the part of personal property is taken as a matter of course and only official winking of an eye is cast at daily reports of criminal assault and the debauchery in official life. The New Deal has no part in its program for protection of the virtue of the innocent attracted to the city on the plea of war necessity. The pandering of war contracts is as prominent in official ranks as the social pandering whose victims of a betrayed life of a few months are chronicled as "suicide."

There is no subject in official life in the Capital city that surpasses war activity which is used as a cloak for covering scores of recognized misdeeds. For this reason the Washington Post editorially last week appealed to the city churches to calm the war nerves and bring the situation home to the people. It reads as follows:

"From every official quarter in Washington comes evidence of war strain.

"The problems of the day are so pressing that tempers are short, voices are angry, and men honestly engaged in the same high purpose are hurling accusations at each other.

"Testimony on Capitol Hill this week revealed that some producers of war materials are taking advantage of conditions to make huge profits.

"From the White House, from the halls of Congress, from the far reaches of the country come feverishness of the controversy over how many hours men shall work to save our country and the payment they shall receive for so doing.

"It is respectfully suggested that all men burdened with these and other problems go to church tomorrow.

"It is possible that some calm man of God will retell the simple story of how Jesus took a scourge and drove the changers of money, the purveyors of oxen and sheep and doves, from the temple and overthrew their tables.

"It is possible that he may tell the story of how God made this earth and everything in it by unrelenting toil in six days and on the seventh rested.

"Six days thou shalt labor, and do all thy work."

"We may even hear that because our peril is great and time is short that we must labor every day of the seven.

"These and all of the gorgeous old lessons are a great source of strength in time of trial. It is a great boon to be able to sit in the house of God and, with the sun filtering through the beautiful windows and the sound of the sturdy old hymns resounding from the loft, to reflect that Washington found strength here; Lincoln found strength here; Wilson found strength here. This priceless privilege is one of the great liberties for which we are fighting.

Americans Determined.

"And then, on Monday, official Washington can busy itself with chasing the money changers out of the temple. After all, there are not many of them among the multitude of faithful producers.

"American men and women do not care how many hours they work so long as they can be sure they are not exploited in their patriotism. Their main concern is that their sons be well armed for our battles with the enemy, for they are determined, as Americans have always been, that our house shall stand.

"Leaders should be able to map our course in this regard without bitterness. We are all working to the same end.

"Be in your pew early; relax completely; listen thoughtfully, and consider prayerfully our enviable position among all men. And come away calmly determined that this shall always be so.

"The day is not dark, our cause is not in jeopardy, if we but work together and show the strength of our fathers."

rector, says you had better give your 1942 automobile license plate a coat of varnish to make it last a long time. So far the New Deal does not promise Ohio and other states metal for auto plates for next year. It will be up to the auto owner to keep his plates in good condition. Use the best outdoor varnish you can buy. Cheap varnish will do more harm than good.

Robert Huffman, formerly manager of a local filling station, informs us that his company had a few automobile tires two years ago on sale here that were made of synthetic rubber. They were sold at a low cost and without any kind of a guarantee. The average mileage was about 3,500 and much less where the driver drove at high speed.

We witnessed a pitiable case alongside the highway Saturday evening on Route 42 west of town. A couple headed for Eaton, O., from Columbus, expected to spend Easter with their daughter, who was critically ill. While their car was not a late model it was in good condition but the heat of the afternoon had affected two of the casings. The couple was well up in years and the Mr. unable to remove the tires due to his rheumatic condition. He had funds to purchase new or good used tires but of course such was not possible. He was given aid but whether he would reach his destination we have no idea. This should be a warning to all drivers. Do not attempt to make long trips, and probably short ones when the warm weather heats the roads, unless you are certain your tires will hold up. You cannot always tell the condition of tires by looking at them.

Pearson and Allen, radio commentators and newspaper columnists, who usually have the right dope on national affairs and find more than ninety-five per cent of their predictions come true, predict that Ed. Flynn, Democratic National Chairman, Tammany boss, who was converted to the New Deal by Roosevelt, is on the way out and will be succeeded by former ambassador to Russia, Davis. Flynn became noted in two ways after heading the Democratic committee. He flayed the Republicans as sabotaging "our war," causing nationwide comment and much criticism. He next became famous when old line Democrats under Gov. Lehman, N. Y. Dem., expelled Flynn as having his million dollar estate graced by the use of 7,000 costly Belgian granite blocks that belonged to New York City and all work was done by labor under Mayor LaGuardia's administration. This exposed, put a crimp in LaGuardia when he denied the charge and later was forced to admit it.

This incident recalls the private road work done under the last Democratic state administration under the Clark county Democratic boss. The faithful that wanted a lane built or paved with black-top around their homes or even farm lanes, had the work done at the expense of the state. Clark county Democrats were paying election supporters with free material and labor. There is much more to come to light if we understand Democratic politics in Clark county. The faction party fight is to be carried into the primary as well as the state election. Fuller Trump and his supporters are out to ditch the Sheehan faction, win or lose.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

It is not time that the newspapers or some organization, of course it could not be the AAA, come to the defense of the farmer in the matter of tires for our automobiles?

I have just scanned the list of tires granted by the Clark county board and not one tire went to a farmer, according to the list. It seems everybody is more important in these war times than the farmer who is asked to feed the nation at home and all our neighbors for the opportunity of being patriotic.

Tires are granted to all city interests where there are all kinds of transportation, trucking concerns, etc. More tires are granted in the big city counties in proportion than to rural counties.

If I am misinformed, I am willing to be corrected, I am told that even our tire boards in the country counties are not awarding tires up to their quota, which leaves more tires for the city counties.

Of course the farmers will stand this "hot-air" patriotic campaign just so long. It is not being patriotic but being made the "goat and laughing stock" for everybody else.

We have been fooled on promise of farm implement repairs, which is in keeping with the period in which we live—fixed farm prices to save the nation from inflation.

We Call It
Romance

IT'S JUST a can of soup. But during a long lifetime, the man who made it found some way to advertise it. At first, just a sign over his little soup kitchen, a few newspaper ads, a few billboards. But as the advertising grew, so did the business.

Now the business employs thousands of workers, helps to support tens of thousands of retail clerks and transportation men, and gives the housewife a better, cheaper soup than she could prepare at home.

Back of every heavily advertised article is a romantic story of this kind—the kind of romance that built America.

COLLEGE NEWS

The big, outstanding social function of Cedarville College's spring season will be held Saturday evening, April 11 at the Alford Memorial Gymnasium. It is the annual "Spring Formal." All the C. C. guys and gals will be there dancing to the music of Cedric Hawkins and his orchestra of Springfield. He has been obtained through the efforts of the Chi Sigma Phi Sorority who is sponsoring the affair this year. Hawkins Orchestra consists of ten instrumental pieces, a girl singer, and himself on the violin. His musical stylizations are popular in and around Springfield as can be judged from the fact that he has seven engagements to play at Wittenberg University alone this spring. There will be refreshments at intermission time, so a thoroughly enjoyable evening is anticipated. It will start at 9:00 p.m. The dance is open to the public. Those of you who enjoy good music and dancing as well as a fine time, may secure tickets from any member of the Chi Sigma Phi Sorority, or you may gain information about this event from any member of the college.

Classes were resumed at Cedarville College, Tuesday morning after the Spring Vacation which started last Wednesday.

The baseball team has remained inactive another week because of bad weather. A scheduled battle with Wilberforce University on Tuesday had to be cancelled. No official practices have been held this week either. C. D. Pyatte, Coach, is hopeful for warmer weather so that the team can work out and get in a few games in the abbreviated college season.

After Tuesday's chapel program, which was in charge of Dean G. W. Steele, President Walter S. Kilpatrick announced to the student body that a Red Cross First Aid class which heretofore had been unobtainable, can be provided for those who are interested. A sufficient number showed interest and so the proposed program is as follows. The class is to be led by Mr. Harold Richards of Xenia, who is qualified to serve in this capacity. He is to be assisted by Mrs. King of the college faculty, Mrs. H. A. Reinhard, and Mrs. John Mills, all of whom have recently taken First Aid courses at Xenia. Townspeople are welcome to join the class. It will meet in the college gym, two nights a week for the remainder of the school year. The only cost will be for a handbook which will cost sixty cents.

Rehearsals have started for the spring play which the seniors are sponsoring. The title of the play is "The Family Upstairs."

Judge Geiger Is Candidate For Re-Election To Bench

Bank Second Term on Court of Appeals

Judge Frank W. Geiger of Springfield, presiding judge of the Second District Court of Appeals and a jurist of more than 24 years' experience, announced his candidacy today for re-nomination and re-election to a second term.

Judge Geiger, who has served as judge of all the state's courts inferior to the Supreme Court, and who is a former member of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination at the primary election August 11.

The Second Judicial District includes the counties of: Champaign, Clark, Darke, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Madison, Miami, Montgomery, Preble and Shelby.

Other judges of the Court of Appeals, neither of whose terms expire at this time, are Judge Joseph D. Barnes of Sidney, Democrat who was re-elected without opposition in 1938, and Judge Roscoe G. Hornbeck of London, who two years ago was re-elected by an overwhelming majority.

A life-long resident of Springfield, which is almost in the exact geographical center of the Second Judicial District, Judge Geiger is a graduate of Wittenberg College of which his father was a founder and for many years an instructor.

Judge Geiger's public activities have been devoted exclusively to judicial office. During his career he has been judge of the Clark County probate court for 12 years; judge of the common pleas court for eight years; and a member of the court of appeals for six years.

As a member of the Public Utilities Commission, he has been active in obtaining enactment of legislation for the protection of railroad employees. He also was instrumental in securing protection for the traveling public through grade crossing eliminations and automatic signal installations at crossings.

As judge of the probate court, he was largely instrumental in establishing the juvenile court system. Under his administration the first detention home, outside of Cleveland, was provided for the care of delinquent children.

As a common pleas judge, he aided in enactment of measures to promote the efficiency of the courts, while during the last five years he has made successful efforts to speed all litigation coming before this important court of review. During the last five years the Court of Appeals has rendered written opinions in an average of 300 cases per year.

Explaining the operation of the Court of Appeals, Judge Geiger stated that the Court does not come in as close contact with the public as do some of the other courts "for the reason that most cases come for review from a lower court where the cases originally were tried, the general function of the appellate court being to determine whether the lower courts have decided the cases erroneously."

Judge Geiger, who is married, is a member of the Covenant Presbyterian Church.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR APRIL 12

LESSON TEXT: Luke 14:14, 15-17. GOLDEN TEXT: "The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth laborers into his harvest."—Luke 10:2.

Working with Christ for the salvation of men has been the privilege of believers since the time He chose the twelve. We learn today that there were at least seventy more whom He considered dependable and worthy to be sent forth. Knowing how brief was the time before His death, the Saviour called, commissioned, and cared for them as they went two by two, personally to evangelize "in every city and place."

I. Sent to Serve Christ (vv. 1-3). Prayer is back of the calling of laborers for Christ. God waits for His people to lay before Him the need, and to ask Him to "move" moving upon the ones who can best serve Him. There is mystery here which we cannot fully understand, but it is perfectly clear that prayer is the power which has been given to the church with which to "move" the hand of God. The reason the laborers are so few, even in our days is evidently, then, because there has been so little prayer.

Observe that the Lord sent His servants "two by two" that they could encourage and assist each other. Christian work is best done in Christian fellowship. The "star performer" or the "lone wolf" may be acceptable in business or social life, but he has no place in Christ's program, unless by His special call and guidance for some particular task, such as pioneer work.

He sent them to go "before His face"—what a glorious place to be! That means that He was watching over them, expecting them really to "labor" for Him. But notice also that in loving thoughtfulness they were—

II. Sustained by Christ (vv. 4-7). It is well when workers go out that they have proper backing. We speak of the "board" which is behind our missionaries, and it is right and proper, but above all there must be the assurance of the provision and protection of Christ.

They were not to be concerned about money. Christ had already moved upon the hearts of His people to see that the laborer had "his hire"—which was food and shelter (v. 7).

Time is what life is made of, and the servants of Christ were not to waste it in lengthy oriental salutations (v. 4), or going from house to house to be entertained, thus losing much time and strength.

Nor was he to strive or become angry if some one did not receive him and his greeting of "peace" (v. 6). In any case his word would return in blessing upon himself (v. 8), and he could go on to another house. The point of all this is that the expectation of the Christian servant is from his Master, Christ, whose business requires diligence and haste (I Sam. 21:8b).

The outcome of such service is revealed in our third point.

III. Successful Through Christ (vv. 17, 21-24). The seventy returned rejoicing that even the demons were not subject to them in Jesus' name. He still has power over the demons of our day. Would that the church wielded that power more effectively!

While it is a great thing thus to see the power of God at work, let us tell them in verse 20 that an even greater thing is to have one's name written in heaven. That means that we ought to be much concerned not only about having our own names written there, but the names of all those whose lives we touch—at home, at work, anywhere.

The secret of the disciples' victory is found in the statements which Christ in all humility and honesty made about Himself (vv. 22-24). He is the one to whom "all things are delivered"—unlimited in authority and power. The mystery of His person and work is not something man can think out or fully comprehend (how foolish has been the attempts to do it!) for He is God. The fact that the Father had revealed these things to the seventy humble, ordinary men caused Christ to magnify His Father's name in praise and prayer (v. 21).

He is something only God can give, and often He can give it in full measure only to humble and lowly men. "Men like D. L. Moody, who became spiritual giants, were usually humble men from lowly walks who gave themselves wholly to God" (B. L. Olmstead).

Need to Slow Up. The world is going too fast! Even the Church needs to slow up for it is attempting too much in social programs and is losing spiritual poise in many places. Paul said to the Church, "Put on the whole armor of God." The whole armor takes time to put on, yet it is dangerous to leave off any part of it.—Rev. A. E. Gregory.

Washington Letter

Investigation of the whole matter was begun. Rumors were made upon the War Production Board that sugar not be used for alcohol purposes but kept for human consumption. Last week it was announced no more alcohol would be made from sugar, and that eight hundred thousand tons of the sweet commodity originally allocated for alcohol manufacturing had been made available for ordinary use. Now there is a grave question as to whether any sugar rationing to consumers will be necessary. Officials charged with the responsibility of handling the sugar problem may soon find themselves in an embarrassing position. If they admit that the whole sugar rationing program is unnecessary, simply because someone didn't know what they were trying to do, then much criticism will follow. On the other hand, if the sugar rationing program is carried out and it later develops that such rationing was actually unnecessary, then a real storm of complaint will develop. As a usual rule, it is always the better part of wisdom to confess and admit a mistake as quickly as possible.

McDorman Interview

politicians to preach patriotism and control of all farm prices as a means of saving the nation from inflation, while all other interests including organized labor are receiving from three to ten times in wages and profits as were received during the first World War.

Meantime the New Deal is taking all of England's wool and bringing it back after unloading war munitions. The government requirements for army uniform yardage of fifty per cent American wool and fifty per cent English wool is the answer to part of Mr. McDorman's just complaint. Wool today should be 60 cents a pound on the farm and would be if it were not for New Deal control. Clothing is selling on the basis of more than a $1 a pound and labor is not considered a part of this cost.

The hog feeder and cattle feeder have just as much complaint over the controlled market as does the wool and lamb feeder. The farmer has been deluded into believing it is more patriotic to accept a government check for one dollar without working than five dollars by his own effort but everything he must purchase on the farm or in the home is based on the five dollar basis. Corn control by the government is part of the hog price control today in contrast with $23.50 per hundred hogs during the World War.

As long as Mr. McDorman and his fellow farm followers continue to swallow the barn yard dust scattered by paid government agents, ninety-five per cent of whom have been personal failures as farmers or business men, he must accept the price set by a thousandfold form of government, stand erect before his fellowmen with outstretched hands on the basis of the day in the name of "New Deal patriotism."

When ordering lunch, the big executives are just as indecisive as the rest of us.

NOTICE TO OUR CUSTOMERS

The board of Directors have decided to install the service charges listed on the enclosed General Service Charge Schedule. Effective May 1, 1942.

Due to the present economic conditions Bank Earnings are no longer adequate to cover the many services which heretofore we have rendered to our patrons free of charge. Consequently, one of a bank's big problems has been to find some fair and satisfactory way of rendering checking account service without a loss.

Earnings from loans and investments have, and are being, greatly reduced while depositors are given greater protection in the form of Deposit Insurance. The Bank also pays the taxes on your money under the State intangible tax laws. The expense of both of the above items has greatly increased in the past few years, as well as the cost of supplies, equipment, operating expenses, etc.

We believe you value your checking account as a record of all financial transactions, as a convenience, eliminating the necessity of carrying cash, and for added prestige—all of which a Bank supplies.

We are glad to have your account, and believe that you will appreciate the importance of the new service schedule as a sound banking policy.

We pledge our best efforts in continuing to render this community a safe, sound and efficient service in all financial affairs.

Respectfully yours,

THE XENIA NATIONAL BANK
